
Letter from the Editor

One for the Road . . .

This is it.

Yes, this is definitely it: my last opportunity to write from the editorial page of the Journal of Nuclear Medicine Technology. This issue marks not only the conclusion of my term as Editor, but also the end of a very significant and challenging phase of my general education. As one would expect, there are many people I would like to thank for their continued support and confidence during this period that I, at least, perceive as successful. I will spare them the mushy sentimentality of belaboring individual contributions; they know who they are and how much they are appreciated.

There are three people, however, who will be less fortunate and who will probably be embarrassed by this page, but their influence has been such that they must be mentioned:

John R. Hansell, MD
Margaret Phelan
Donald A. Weigand

I truly enjoyed working for the Technologist Section. It will be difficult indeed to duplicate the fun, the intensity, the close friendships, and the personal growth I experienced during the last six years.

Thank you all for having granted me this opportunity.

PATRICIA WEIGAND, CNMT
