

The past year has been an exciting one for the JNMT and its staff. The look of the Journal has changed, thanks to the help of Ellie and Max Nigretto. The management of the Journal also has changed, with Eleanore Tapscott assuming additional responsibilities as the Managing Editor of JNM; Palash Ghosh has become a new member of the staff who functions as Eleanore's able assistant. The staff of Associate Editors has increased as well with the addition of Mike Cianci; we welcome him aboard.

The Associate Editors again had a brainstorming session at the June meeting in Washington, and you will begin to see some of the results of that session throughout the next year in the Journal. I thank them for their continued service and devotion to JNMT. Also, a note of thanks to Donna Brinley and the Continuing Education Committee for their diligence in providing excellent continuing education articles for the Journal. A special thank you also to Marcia Boyd, Chairman of the Publications Committee, for her untiring support.

The people who least often get recognition for their efforts are the reviewers, who donate their time and expertise in reviewing the many articles that are submitted to JNMT for publication. These individuals work anonymously and ask nothing in return. They offer advice and support to the authors and to the Editor. Without them, the Journal could not possibly maintain its high standard of quality which we have come to expect. The names of those who have served the Journal in the capacity of reviewer during 1990 are listed below in recognition of their efforts. I thank them on behalf of myself, as well as the JNMT staff and the Technologist Section.
