JOURNAL OF NUCLEAR MEDICINE TECHNOLOGY Best Paper Award

Each year the associate and consulting editors of the Journal of Nuclear Medicine Technology select the best spontaneously submitted paper published during the previous year. The criteria used to select the best paper include the originality and importance of the subject matter, scientific content and quality of writing. The best paper award is given during the Technologist Section business meeting at the SNM annual meeting in June. The award consists of a keepsake plaque and cash award of $100.
