

The first year of my editorship comes to a close with this issue of the Journal of Nuclear Medicine Technology. It has been exciting, exasperating, rewarding, and a tremendous learning experience. Beginning with the next issue, you will see some changes in the appearance of the Journal, which are the result of a brainstorming retreat of the JNMT staff. We will be anxious to receive your comments in reaction to these changes. In addition, we seek contributions from you the readers, in the form of an artifact case of the quarter. When you have an interesting artifact occur, please consider presenting it as a case report in the JNMT. This is your Journal; please use it to share your experience with other members of the profession.

The publication of the Journal requires the efforts of many people, including the editorial board and the production staff. A thank you to the Editorial Board and production staff is in order and a special thank you to John Reilley for assuming responsibility as the Continuing Education Associate Editor. Because the JNMT is a peer review journal, it also requires the time, effort, and expertise of manuscript reviewers who donate their services to maintain the JNMT as a quality publication. The following individuals served as reviewers during 1989, and I thank them for their efforts on behalf of the JNMT and its readers.
